WEST CAMP

To all senior patrol leaders: have you had a troop leaders council meeting? Right now is a good time to have one. Camp is also a good place to hold patrol meetings.

Trading post special of the day: MaKaJa'an pens - red, blue and black, only 30¢ --- Green pens only 20¢.

Scoutmasters only: Remember to post these announcements on your troop bulletin board. Don't leave your scouts out in the cold!

Tom Bragg of Troop 182 shot a 46 to earn the silver bullet on Friday.

Food pickup times for cooking merit badge, cooking skill award or any overnight camp-outs will be 11:30-12:00 and 4:30-5:00 at West camp Q.M.

Any breakfast meals must be picked up the night before.

To all scouts on Sunday:

Protestant services - 10:00

Catholic services - 11:00

If you're interested in helping with the Protestant services see Rusty Singleton.

LETTERS TO ALPHA ALICE

Dear Al:

My associate and myself have a tentative engagement with two beautiful Antigochids; however, transportation has posed a problem. What should we do? TWO FRUSTRATED STAFFMEN

Dear Frustrated:

Please contact your special Activities Coordinator for all outside activities.

ALPHA ALICE

PROFILE-Michael Creagh

"When I was six I over exposed myself to the sun. When I got home I noticed that my skin was brown. A couple of years later I learned that developing pictures was sort-of like getting a sun burn, kind of. I was so fascinated by this discovery that I used to spend hours in the sun. When I couldn't stand it any more I decided to become a photographer."

That is Mike Creagh's story. A story of a young boy who sizzled under the burning rays of the sun only to become a great photographer.

Mike's favorite expressions are 'You Bet' and '10-4'.

Mike's favorite smells are developer and fixer.

To The Photographer

Locked within a precious moment in time

I am

And shall never
again

Locked within the border of a photograph

I am
And shall always

(Charles Reuber)
