EAST CAMP

At 8:30 PM all villages are invited to partake of a campwide campfire and are asked to gather by the dining hall. The staff will provide an exciting hour of stimulating entertainment.

You wouldn't believe all the fantastic good food that could be yours for just 25¢. Hot dogs, chips, bug juice, pickles, onions, are just some of the exciting goodies available to you if you bring 25¢ to Burgdorf and Company for staff snacks this Saturday at 10PM.

The East Camp staff wants to thank Mrs. Peckerd and Emma for making delicious staff snacks (lesagne) last evening. They stayed until 9PM for the staff they love.

"These Things We Believe"

We believe in our right to an understanding of our own place in the natural community of which we are a part. We believe in our right to acquire skills and the tools for living in the out-of-doors as part of our heritage as descendants of pioneers, to swim, to fish, to manage a canoe, to climb, to build, to cook, to worship. We believe in our right of discovery and adventure in nature's world, our right to put strength against the barriers nature erects and the mysteries she presents, and in our right to a sense of achievement. We believe in our right to fun, and to a creative expression of ourselves in handicrafts, in music, and in drama. We believe in our right to friendly comradeship, and adventure in the out-of-doors. We believe in our need of the healing of our bodies, and minds, and spirit found in the wild, wide, and open spaces. We believe in our unfolding response to the warm earth, the friendly stars, the music of the streams, the unknown life in hidden places, great trees, sunsets, and storms. We believe that all these are pathways for us to God, and that their language is universal.
